Bonner Springs, Kansas

Volume XXV

Staff Honors Mrs. Stith

Mrs. Doris Stith, a native of Kearney, Nebraska, began teaching Latin and English at Bonner Springs High School in 1941. Since then she has become an integral part of our high school. The unselfish dedication she has shown to her students has been an inspiration both in and out of the classroom. Mrs. Stith co-sponsored the Pow Wow from 1942 to 1960. She has also sponsored Latin Club since she came to Bonner. In 1961, she affiliated Bonner's Latin Club with the Junior Classical League, a national Latin organization. Each year, Mrs. Stith accompanies the members to the state J.C.L. convention. In 1963, Mrs. Stith took a group to the national J.C.L. convention in Lawrence, Kansas for one week during the summer.

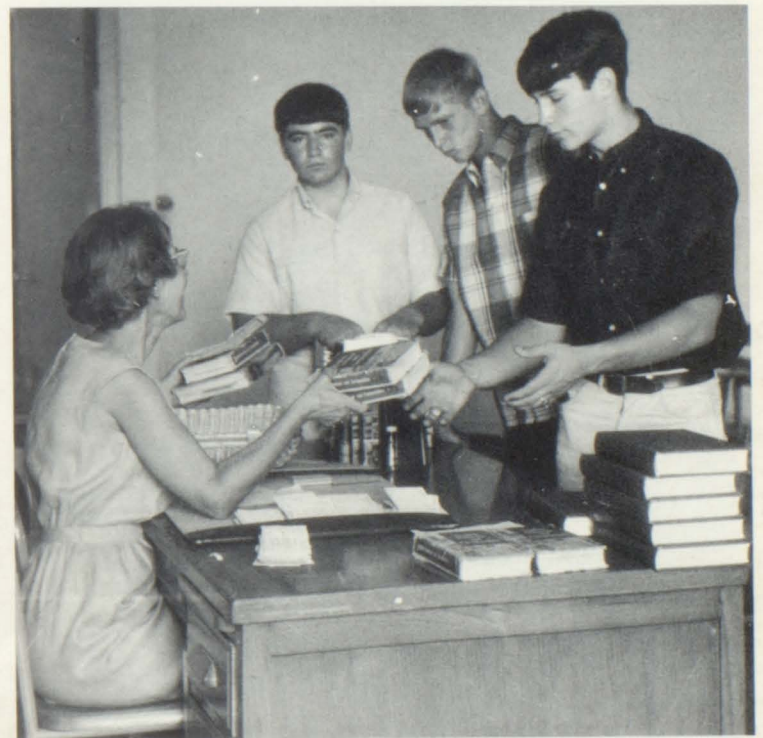

To show our sincere appreciation to a teacher who is such an asset to B.S.H.S., the 1967 Totem Pole staff dedicates this book to Mrs. Doris Stith.

To the students, Mrs. Stith always appears pleasant and helpful.

School is out, the halls are empty, but Mrs. Stith remains to grade papers.

Mrs. Stith chats with Steve May, Jack Mellott, and Gary Green during the busy enrollment hours.

eternally seeking and searching for the mysteries of life: discoveries, achievements, satisfactions, and an awareness of the outside world. Our generation has to have a broad outlook on situations such as the Vietnam crisis, the off-year election, and the space explorations. In order to cope with these world problems, we at Bonner High are continually voicing new ideas, seeking knowledge, and meeting challenges. Presently, we are concerned with the athletic, scholastic, and social activities that occur within our school. In years to come we will be faced with greater concerns, but we must rise above them to gain what we seek.

Throughout life we seek the companionship of friends, the assistance of instructors, an understanding of what we learn, and the enthusiasm of attaining goals. The satisfaction of being one of the gang, the knowledge gained from leaders, the application of this knowledge, and the spirit portrayed in competitive athletics and competitive academics aid us through the enigmas of high school life. In 1967 we search, and we will continue to search. . .for success, greatness. . . a place in life, an identity. . . for ourselves.

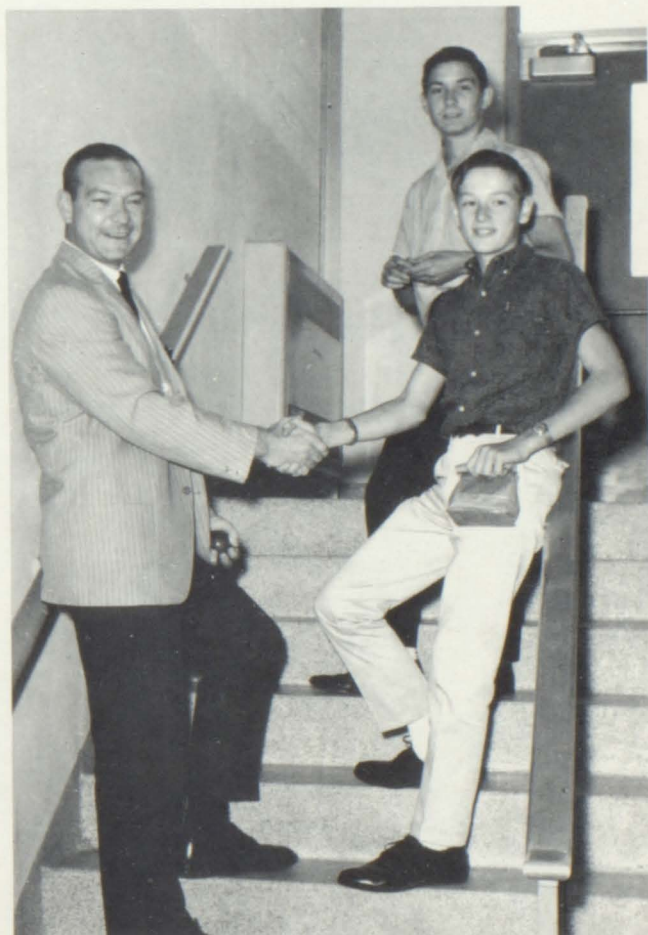

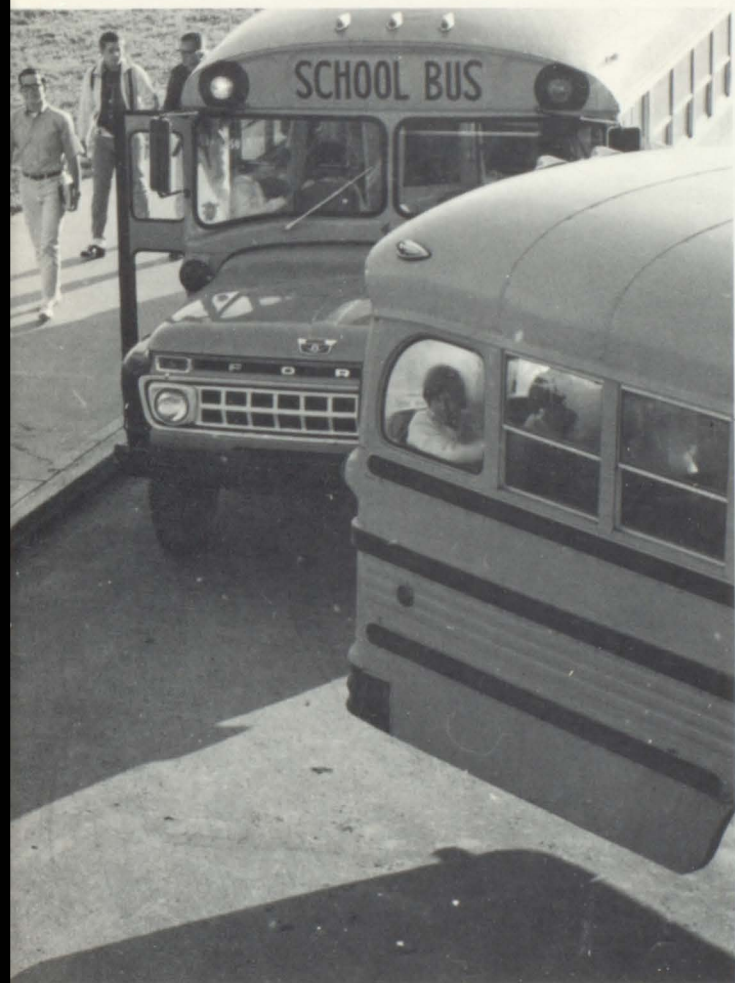

We seek companionship. . .

we find a time of confusion, when no one seems to know what to do, but everyone does it together.

It is the friend who opens the door, who strolls beside us, and who leads us to the hallways of success.

We seek enthusiasm. . .

we gather to create spirit. . . spirit creates itself.

Through participation we gain pride in our athletics, organizations, and activities.

Principal's Office Is Core Of All School Activities

After 18 years at Bonner Springs High, everyone will miss Mr. Van Petten. He made it a tradition to sing "When You're Smiling" at special assemblies. The student body wishes him luck as superintendent of the Derby school system.

Mr. Leon Shepard, a man with new thoughts and new ideas, assumed the role of principal. He took a personal interest in every student in the school.

Compiling notes, making announcements over the intercom, and answering telephones are merely a small mention of Mrs. Mildred Bundy's working day.

Mrs. Mary Ann Allen helps with files, class schedules, and typing in guidance, when she is not busy in the main office.

Preparing for an evening of work are the school board members, Dr. William Miller, Mr. Rex Heffley, Mr. Dal Grinstead, Mr. Homer Miesse, Mr. Darrell Donahue, Dr. William Howard, Mr. Kenneth Tewell, and Mr. Lindy Trent.

Board Of Education Works To Improve District

Dividing his time between the guidance office and the main office is Mr. Bill White. As vice-principal, he assists Mr. Shepard.

Being a school board member is a job without pay. Yet, the District #204 Board of Education worked tirelessly to engineer programs which benefit all the students of the district. These citizens reserve the time in their busy schedules to make improvements, to appropriate funds, and to show their concern for the districts' youth. Working with the board is Bonner Springs' top administrator, Dr. William Howard. In his fourth year as superintendent, Dr. Howard has devoted his efforts to making this a banner year.

Academics

knowledge to develop our skills and talents in the industrial arts; to discover the truths in science; to learn of our heritage in history; to refine our culture in the fine arts; to use the tools of better communication; to strengthen our minds and bodies; to further our education, so that we can open the gateway to success and to the wealth of mankind.

Language Arts Department Stresses Fine Points Of English

If you ever remember anything from high school, Mrs. Jean Ann Shea wants you to remember that "Hunger is the best pickle!"

Mr. Harold Marcum ponders over the worth of a student's speech. Coaching the debate team, directing the plays, and preparing students for speech contests also keeps Mr. Marcum busy outside class.

A modern teaching device, the overhead projector, is used by Mrs. Doris Stith in her English IV and Latin classes.

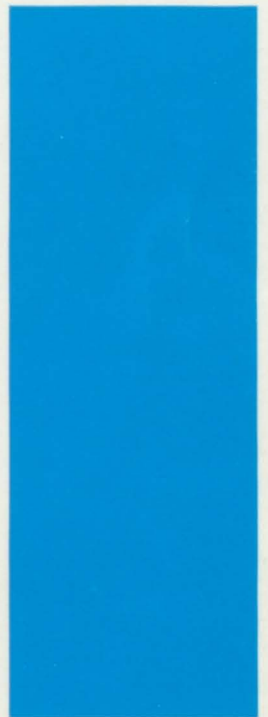

Mrs. Shea's sixth hour publications class works frantically on the '67 Totem Pole.

"Gee, only ten absent today!" says Mrs. Sharon Clemens, sophomore English teacher.

Checking Pow Wows just off the press is Mrs. Carrie Feinstein, journalism and publications instructor.

"Did you say that you don't know what a verb is?" challenges Miss Cheryl Jones, who teaches English and assists with Kayettes.

"I did not come to praise Caesar. . ." begins Teresa Allen as others listen, fascinated.

Democratic discussions are frequent in Mrs. Janet Leiker's freshman English classes. She is also the head sponsor of Kayettes.

"Let's see, where did I put that book?" ponders Mrs. Arroline Zumbrunn, head of the English Department.

Foreign Languages Create International Atmosphere In School

"Hey, you guys, watch me pull the legs right off this paper goat!" says Mr. John Nobile, Spanish instructor.

Mademoiselle Mary Trim, French instructor and sponsor of French Club, finds it quite interesting to listen to beginning French students.

"This guy's talking in Martian!" declares C. R. Goodin as he listens to a Spanish tape in the sound lab.

Fine Arts Encourage Creativity In School

Mr. John Careggio studies an art book in order to add supplementary material to his class lectures. A new technique, the use of an art textbook, has been introduced this year.

Phillip Calandrino has framed Alicia Leal as they pose for still life drawings in art class.

Ruth Hurt finds it hard to sit still while she models for fellow students.

An example of the art work by second year students is a linoleum print by Rick Slickelman.

The newly formed a cappella choir practices music obtained for the Thanksgiving assembly sponsored by the Kays.

Mr. Hugh Ferguson is caught off guard as he directs the choir. Mr. Ferguson also directs the band, mixed choir, glee club, and teaches a music appreciation class.

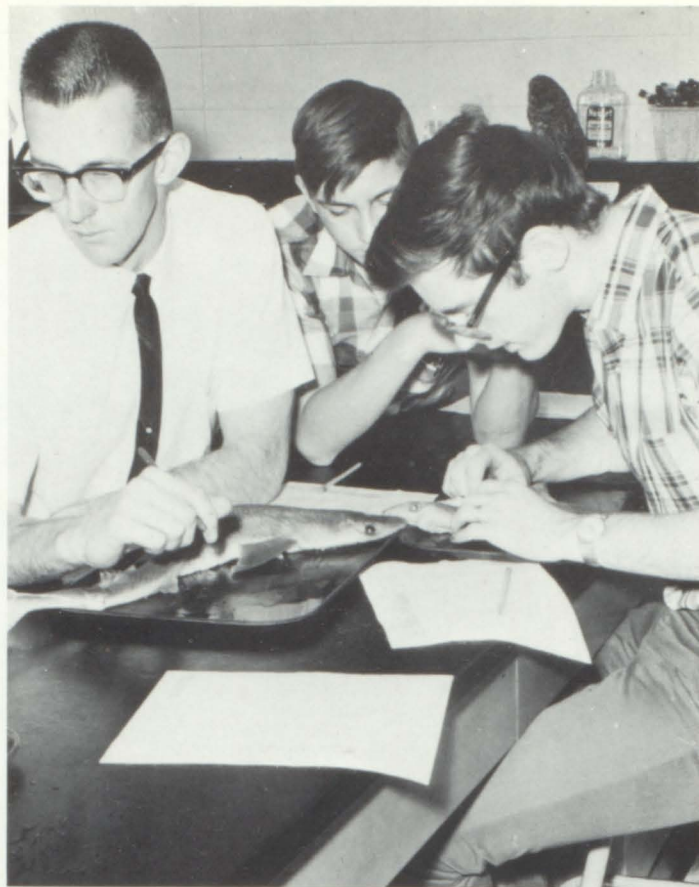

The pep band rallies enthusiasm and school spirit as it plays the school fight song, "Wave the Flag," during a pep assembly.

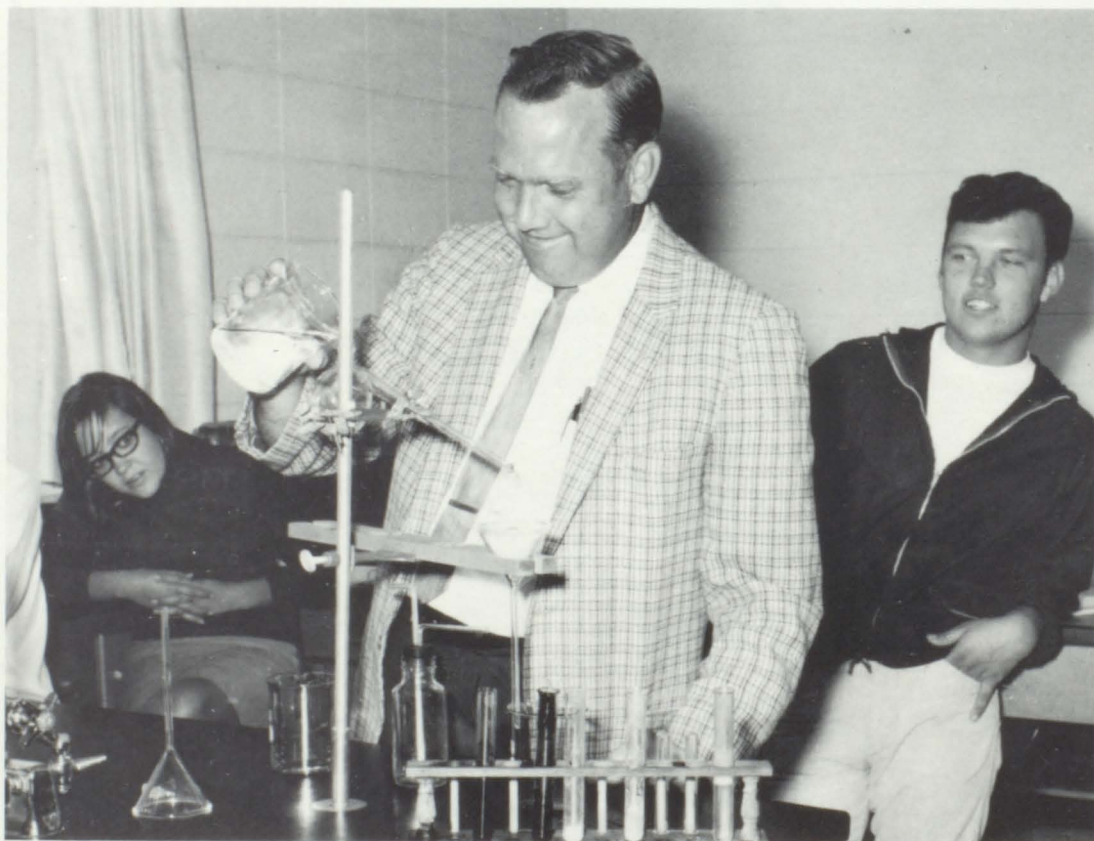

Math And Science Section Develops Modern Minds

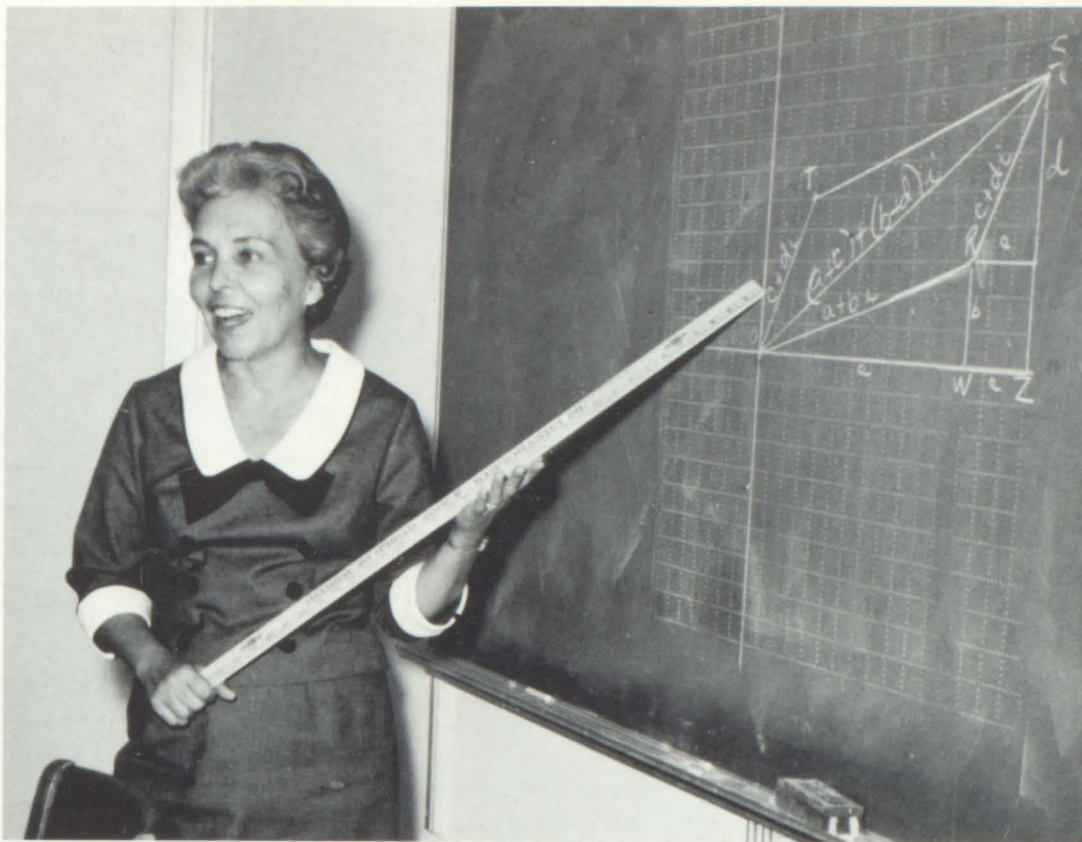

"I can blow up the world with this test tube!" boasts Mr. Ed Judd, biology teacher. Actually, the test tube contains a snail.

Advanced biology students, Danny Gibson and Steve Paxton, begin to dissect a shark during their lab period.

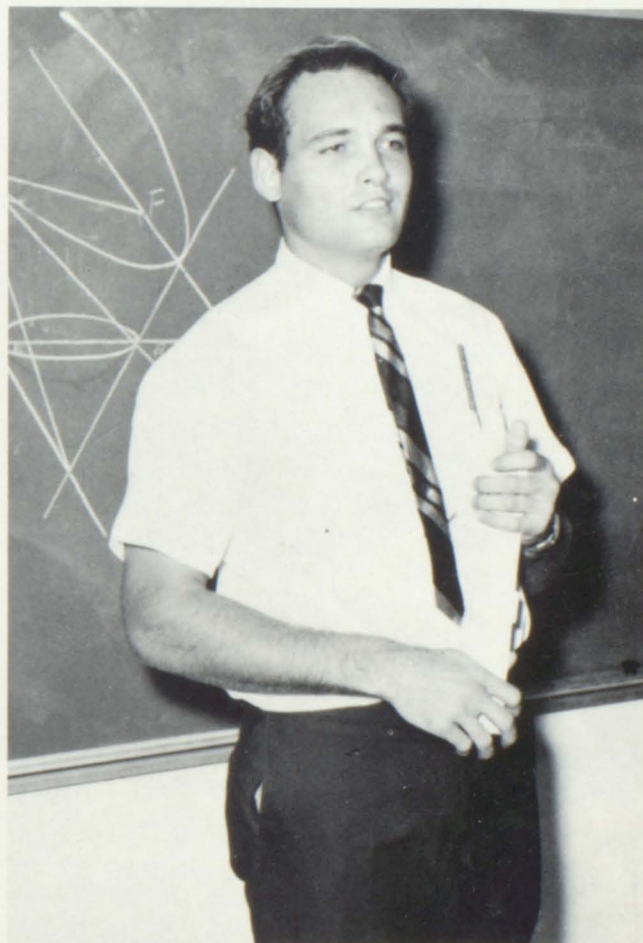

Mr. Dick Nelson, chemistry instructor, performs an experiment for innocent by-standers Linda Pearce and Claude Robinson.

Helping befuddled students is a major job of Mrs. Muriel Jared, head of the math department.

The intricate parts of this motor are revealed by Mr. Roy Rogers, teacher of geometry and physics. Mr. Rogers also sponsors Kays.

"The first one to solve this problem gets a Tootsie Roll," challenges Mr. Dennis Vrbas, who teaches Algebra I and general math.

Social Sciences Open New Doors To Society

Mr. Max Thompson, junior favorite, overlooks American history grades. He is the head sponsor of the junior class.

Mr. Joe Lieber teaches constitution, psychology, and coaches freshman football and basketball teams.

Panel discussions of "The Parable" are conducted in Mr. Mike Bell's psychology class. Members of the panel are Steve May, Ann Morton, Marla Spillman, Bill Wright, and David Drong.

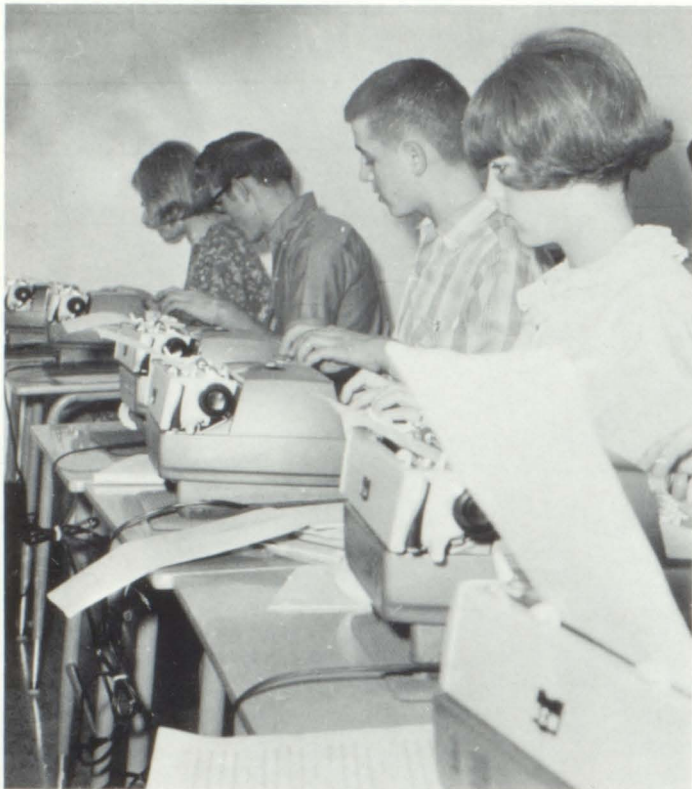

Paula Worley and Ann Morton put up displays on Japanese culture for their term papers in sociology.

Returning this year to Bonner, is Mr. Mike Bell, who teaches psychology, sociology, and Practical English.

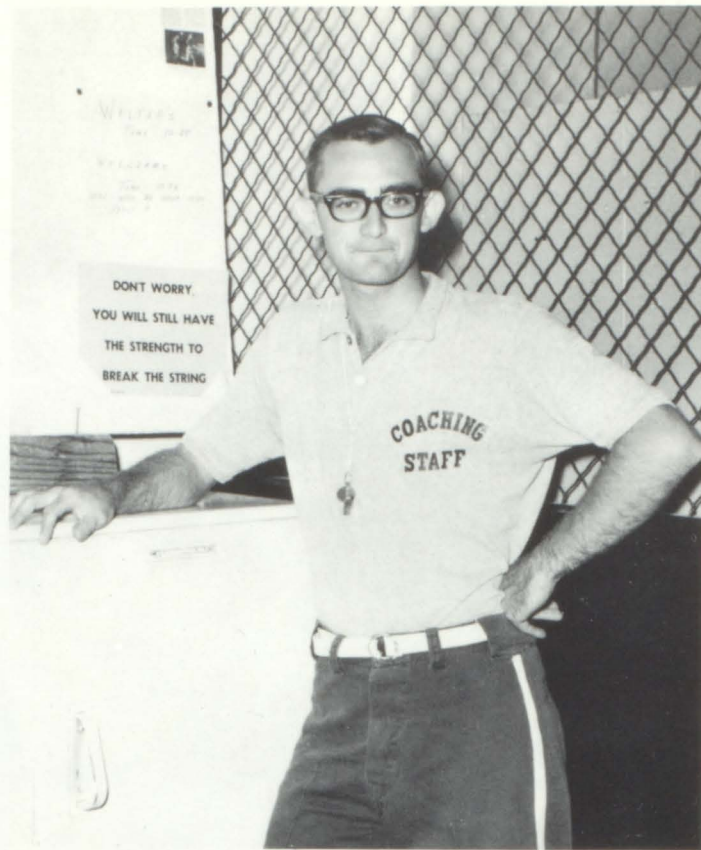

Mrs. Sydney Dunn catches up on some reading. She teaches psychology, Unified Studies, and Marriage and Family, besides sponsoring pep club.

Commerce Classes Look To The Business World

Mr. Stephen's typing students show concentration as they prepare homework in class.

"A,s,d,f!" booms Mr. Ted Stephens to his beginning typing students. Mr. Stephens is also a sponsor of FBLA.

Aside from his classes of bookkeeping, Mr. Gerry Leonard coaches track, cross country, and junior varsity basketball teams.

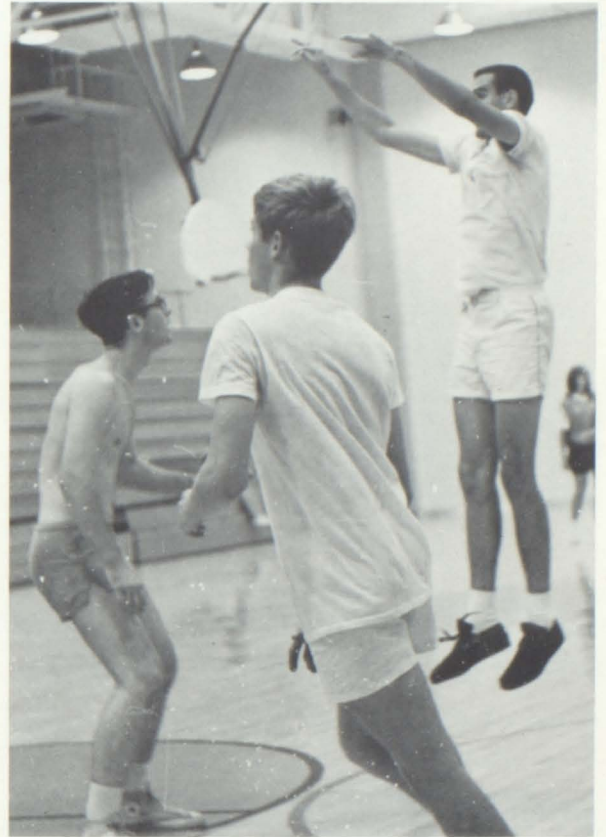

Mrs. Lysle Middaugh is shown helping Linda Timmons on a business machine. She sponsors FBLA and teaches typing, shorthand, business machines, and secretarial training.

Gym Classes Improve Strength - Coordination

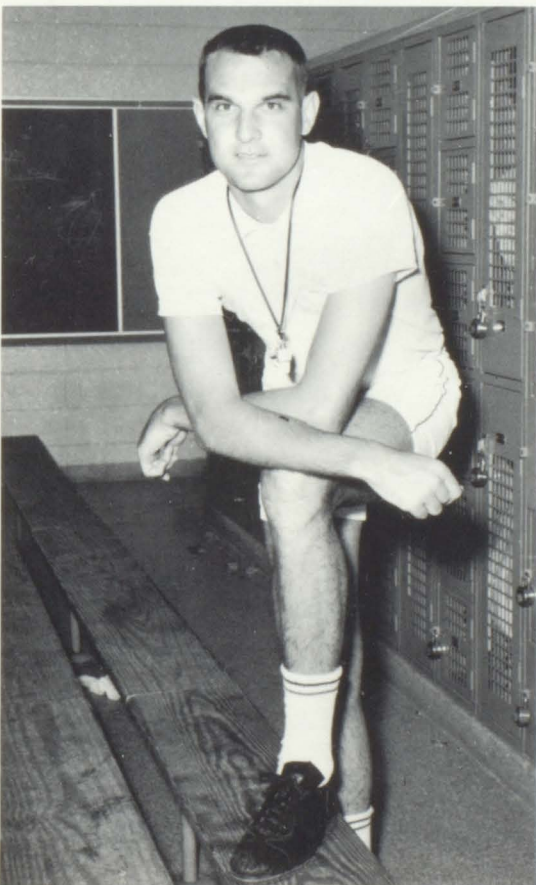

Demonstrating how to make a basket is Mrs. Freda Reynolds. Besides instructing physical education and health classes, Mrs. Reynolds is the head sponsor of pep club.

During 6th hour gym, Steve Paxton tries to guard 6'5" Jeff Simons as Jerry Dalsing hustles for the rebound.

Mr. Jeff Simons, head basketball coach, relaxes in the locker room. Besides teaching physical education, Mr. Simons also instructs driver's education.

Athletic director, Ray Cox, referees wrestling in his boys' physical education class. He is also the head football coach.

Practical Knowledge Taught To Students In Industrial Arts Courses

A lecture by Mrs. Jeanine Stephenson proves that home ec. isn't all cooking and sewing. As an extra-curricular activity, Mrs. Stephenson sponsors F.H.A.

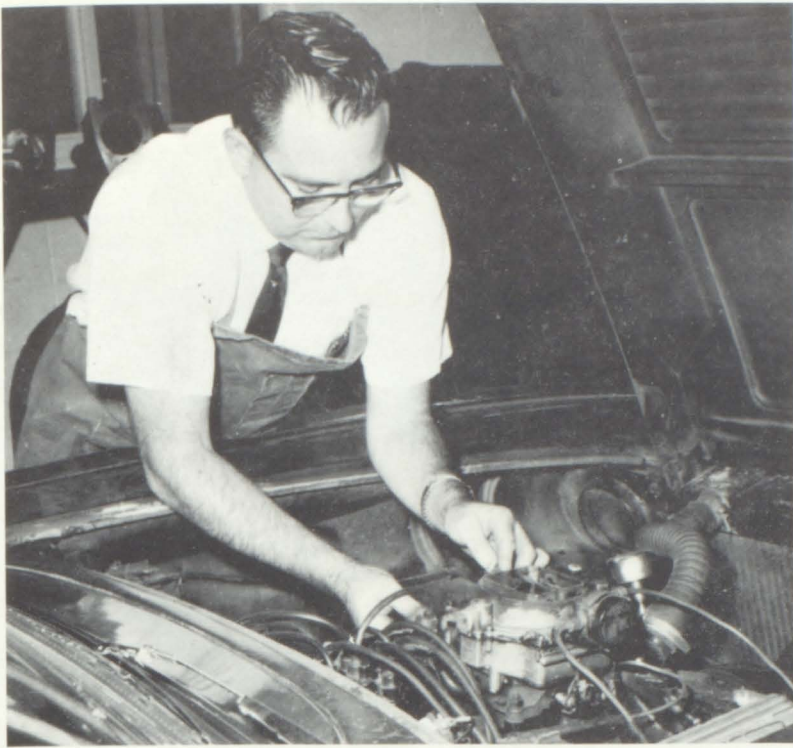

"Howdy Folks," quips Mr. Hervey Fox, demonstrating his "electrical" ability.

Mrs. Martha Littooy gives advice on sewing a lining to Donna Tallman, a fourth year home ec. student.

Mr. Bill Vitt makes use of his knowledge of automotive mechanics as he sneaks the spark plugs out of a student's car.

Mr. Dick Burns laughs mirthfully as one of his students trims his fingernails with a torch. He is the head wrestling coach.

Mr. Warren Wickham, supervisor of grounds, and transportation, plants a new evergreen at BSHS.

Mr. Leland Finley shows sheet metal students, Henry Garrison and Gary Armentrout, how to make counterfeit plates in class.

Student, Faculty Assistants Offer Special Services

Typing the bulletin and running errands keep these office help students busy: Reida Howard, Donna McCord, Mary Kirby, and Janice Dalsing.

Nurses, Mrs. Peggy Spillman and Mrs. Gail Wickham greet students as they report for "active duty" after a day of sick leave.

Janitors, Mr. Archie Sanders, Mr. Bert Chance, and Mr. Ernest Sill do an excellent job of keeping the high school in beautiful condition.

Cooks, Ann Nick, Edna Hollenbeck, Geraldine Shaw, Virginia Kempfer, Nina Moran, and Martha Groh work diligently at the almost impossible job of preparing meals for the students and faculty.

Mrs. Elsie Hughes, librarian, proves that the library is the hub of learning.

Mr. Al Ogden, a familiar and friendly person, is always eager to listen and help with a problem.

Spirit Soars As Pigskin Braves Defeat Foes.

In an outdoor pep rally, fullback Lyle Yazel addresses Brave fans.

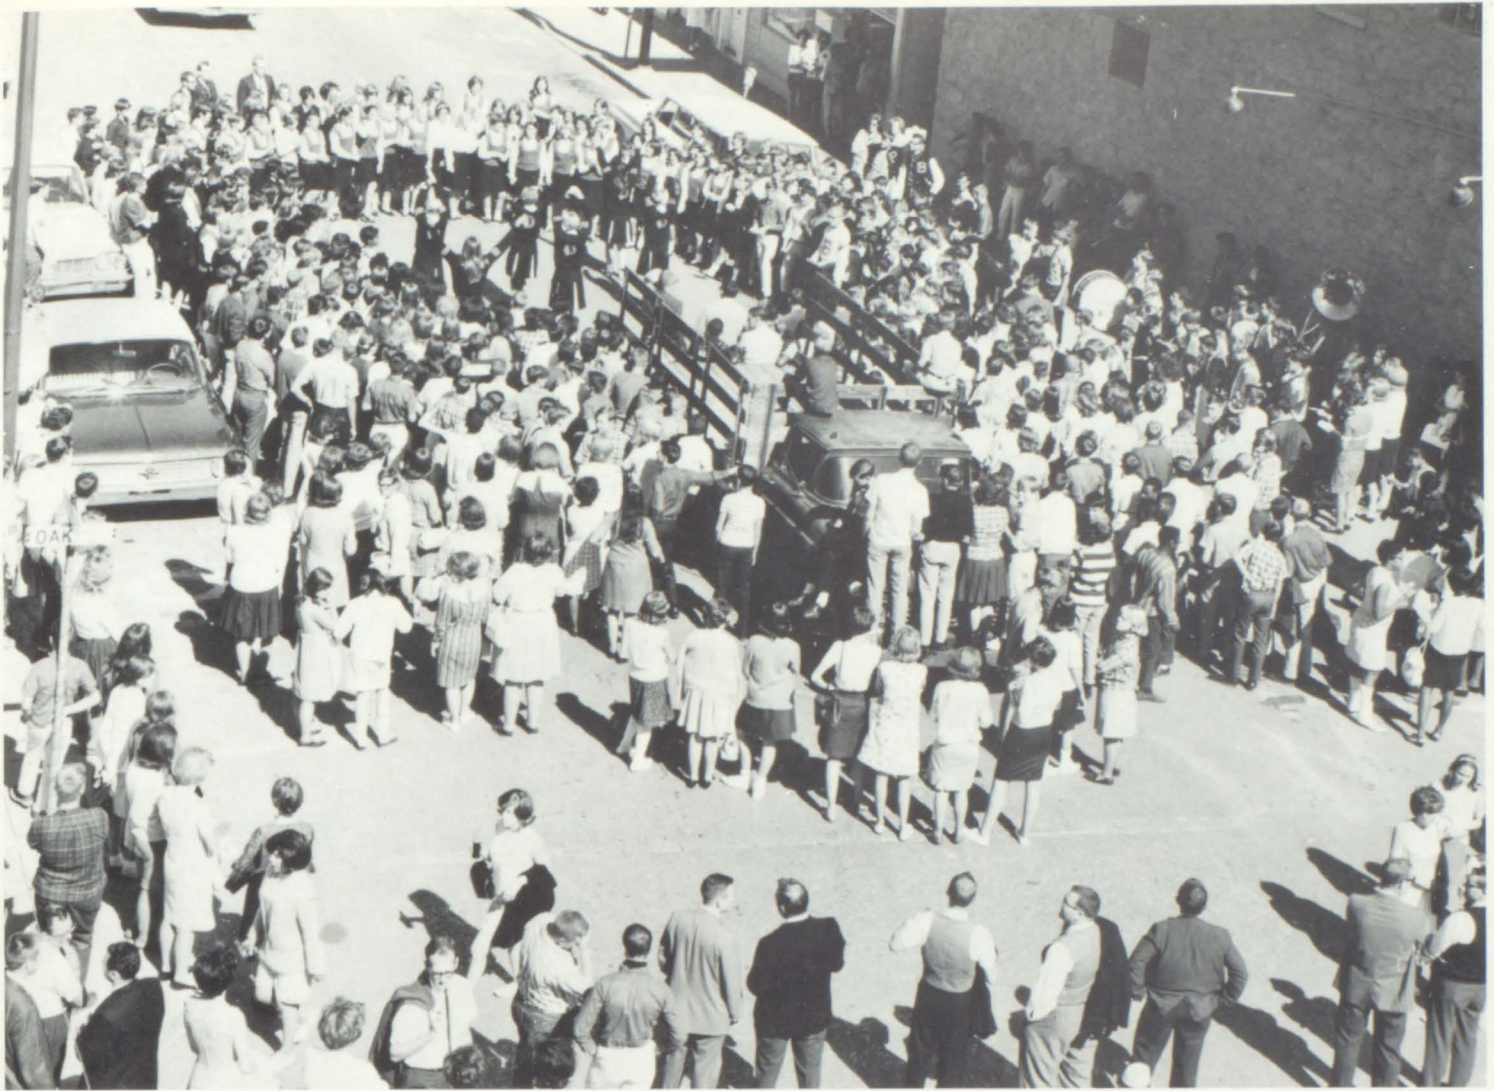

The pigskin Braves lead a procession of boisterous students down Main Street.

Bonner shows its strength not only on the field, but also in the stands where spirited pep club girls follow the team's action.

Coach Cox sparks enthusiasm with his prediction of victory.

The largest pep rally of the season is underway downtown. It was preceded by a snake dance in which the entire student body participated. A chain of shouting students began at the school and wound their way along the streets to the downtown area.

Classes have ended, the halls have emptied, the buses have departed. In the solitude left behind there is no feeling of emptiness, but an awareness of school spirit. The presence of this spirit can be sensed as it flows through the corridors. It can be heard in the faint echo of cheerleaders practicing in the commons area. On the practice field it takes many forms—the low mumbling in the huddle, the calling of signals by the quarterback, the thud of bodies being knocked to the ground, the shrill cry of the coach's whistle. Spirit is present in the piercing odor of liniment pouring from the steam filled locker room. It is on the sweat-laden brows of weary players. It mingles in the sparse groups of pep club girls working feverishly on victory banners. Evening falls. . .the last students depart. In the silence, only the spirit pervades.

Cheerleaders Kathryn Bricker, Susan Brown, Paula Worley, and Joyce Mellott lead an enthusiastic crowd in victory chants.

Friends congratulate Kathryn Bricker and Jenny Puntenney after the crowning ceremony.

The halls bustle with excitement as homecoming draws near. Scattered here and there are groups of students whispering about plans for their class float. As the various clubs meet to elect their candidates and attendants, the students anxiously await the outcome.

Hard work and ingenuity slowly transform the floats from bare chicken wire skeletons into colorful displays. With most of the work completed, bands of students begin raiding one another's floats.

At last homecoming day arrives. A fierce wind tears at the floats scattering bits of black and orange crepe paper everywhere. When the students are assembled, the drum majorette raises her baton and blows her whistle, signaling for the parade to begin.

At the game that night the stands are filled with students, alumni, and parents, all awaiting the half-time ceremony. When the band has assembled on the field, a hush falls over the crowd as the speaker announces that the senior class has won the float competition for the fourth year. Screams of delight are heard everywhere. Then in a fanfare, Kathryn Bricker is crowned queen.

Homecoming Brings A Parade, A Queen, Then Defeat.

During the homecoming parade, Kathryn Bricker is escorted by Craig Carbery and driven by Craig Mitts, senior class president.

Representing Pep Club is Jenny Puntenney, escorted by Bill Wright and driven by Tom Lilley.

In a student assembly, B-Club candidate Ann Morton speaks on "What Homecoming Means to Me."

Joyce Mellott, head cheerleader, and Steve May, Student Council President, crown Kathryn Bricker 1967 Homecoming Queen as Jenny Puntenney and Jim Schirmer look on.

Student Body Hosts Australian Student

Marree Nicholson came to Bonner as a foreign exchange student from Allendale East, a town in southern Australia. During her stay here, Marree is living with several families in the community.

At home, Marree lives with her family of seven and attends a five year high school. She finds the discipline in Australian schools more rigid than in American schools. In Australia, students must wear uniforms to school. More academic subjects are stressed, while fewer elective courses are offered. There are no extracurricular activities, but all students participate in some type of sports.

The main adjustment Marree had to make to American life was in adjusting to the heat in our homes. In Australia, the homes do not have central heating and thus, are much cooler. Other than this, Marree finds the two countries very similar in customs and culture.

As the novelty of coming to another country wears off, Marree falls into the routine of an American student.

Marree first meets Bonner students at a reception given for her by Student Council members.

To the amusement of Debra Salts, Deb Leach, Lynn Cooper, and Jan Lillibridge, Marree throws her first snow ball.

Students swarm onto the court to sing the victory song, "The Harlem Goat."

Brave Fans Remain Loyal Throughout Winter

During a time-out, the cheerleaders lead a roaring crowd while the team plans new strategy.

Coach Burns lifts Kenny Miller to hang the wrestlers' victory banner.

Dress Down Day Promotes "The New Look"

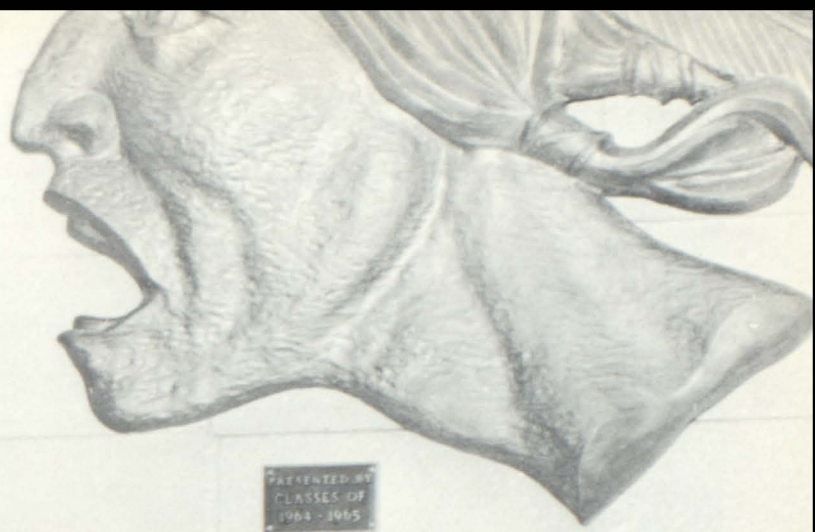

During the break, Kathryn Bricker, Patty Stewart, Deb Leach, and Paula Worley laugh about the day's fashions.

"My whats are showing?" asks Barbara Honeywell.

Student Council Is Hub Of All School Activities

Student Council, is the representative organization between the student body and the school administration. The organization consists of four elected members of each class, and presidents of the clubs. At weekly meetings, Stuco members discuss improvements and revisions of school policies.

As usual, they sponsored a successful Homecoming Parade and Dance. The Homecoming Queen was crowned by this year's president, Steve May.

The administration delegated many responsibilities to Student Council. Stuco members were responsible for student behavior during the break, and for all school elections. They also approve all club charters and club activities. Student Council had one of its more active years due to members who wanted to improve the school.

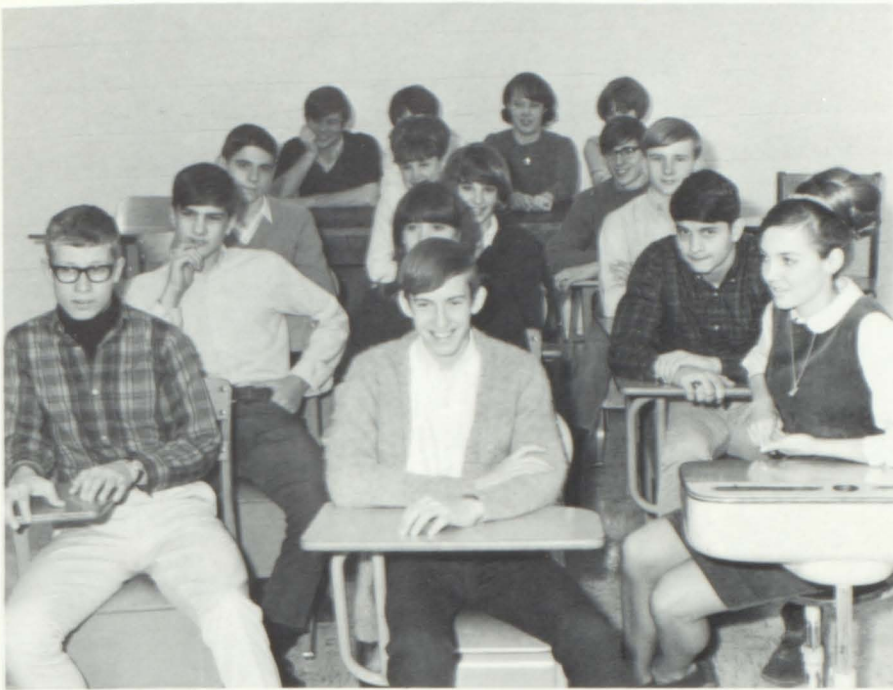

Steve May grabs a moment of relaxation before his next Stuco meeting. Steve holds the honor of Student Council President, and has led Stuco through a progressive year.

Student Council officers and sponsors listen as Mr. Nelson explains a new school policy. They are John Miesse, vice-president; Mr. Dick Nelson, sponsor; Mrs. Zumbrunn, sponsor; Steve May, president; Mr. Ted Stephens, sponsor; Jim Schirmer, treasurer; Jan Lillibridge, secretary; and Gregg Ottinger, parliamentarian.

Stuco class representatives, elected from their respective classes, listen to Mr. Nelson as he outlines the organization's goals for the coming year. They are (front row) M. Bowker, G. Ottinger, S. Walker; (second row) J. Pettis, B. Honeywell, J. Miesse; (third row) S. Heffley, M. Miller, J. Schirmer; (fourth row) B. Wright, J. Pettis, M. Miller, J. Lillibridge, and D. Leach.

"You owe me thirty-three dollars and sixty-nine cents, and the rest is your profit," announces Jim Schirmer, treasurer of Student Council who handles concessions at all school activities.

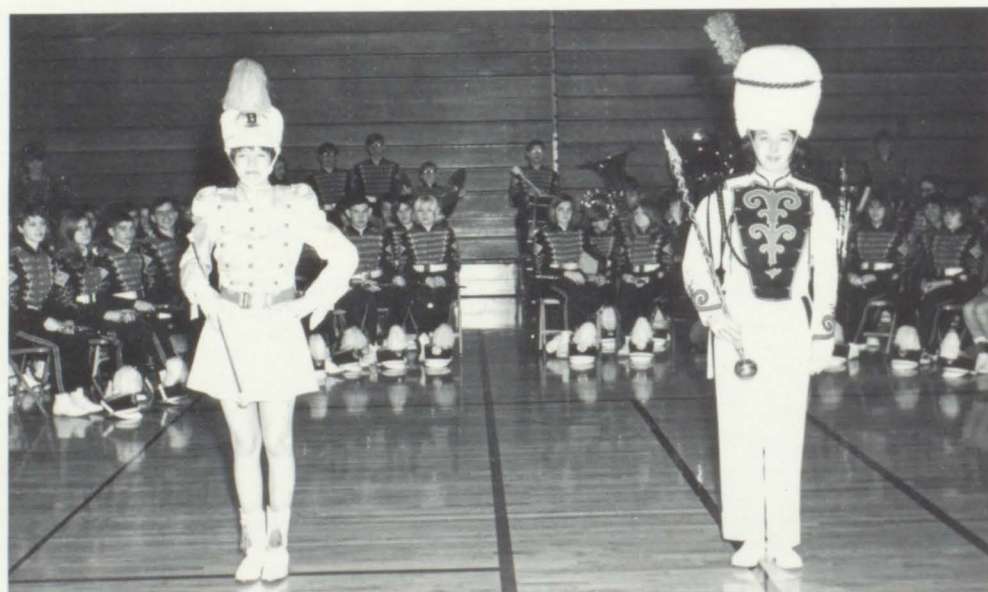

Hal Callahan discusses with Craig Carbery whether or not outside dates should be allowed at the "Mr. Knees and Miss Feet" dance.

Members of the concert band are (front row) N. Acock, S. Min-turn, V. DeFries, G. Mellott, R. Mellott, J. Anderson, G. Reiss, C. Davis, S. Walker, K. Malone, M. Zumbrunn, M. Miller, W. Lange, S. Mr. Ferguson, leader, conductor, manager, and engineer of the band, has once again displayed unbelievable patience with the musicians through the trying times.

This year's band officers: Greg Hammer, president; Joyce Mellott, secretary; Jim Schirmer, treasurer; John Miesse, vice-president; and Greg Reiss, have done a marvelous job managing the band on each of its many excursions.

Music Department Abounds With Color

Practice makes perfect believe the twirlers, as they work after school.

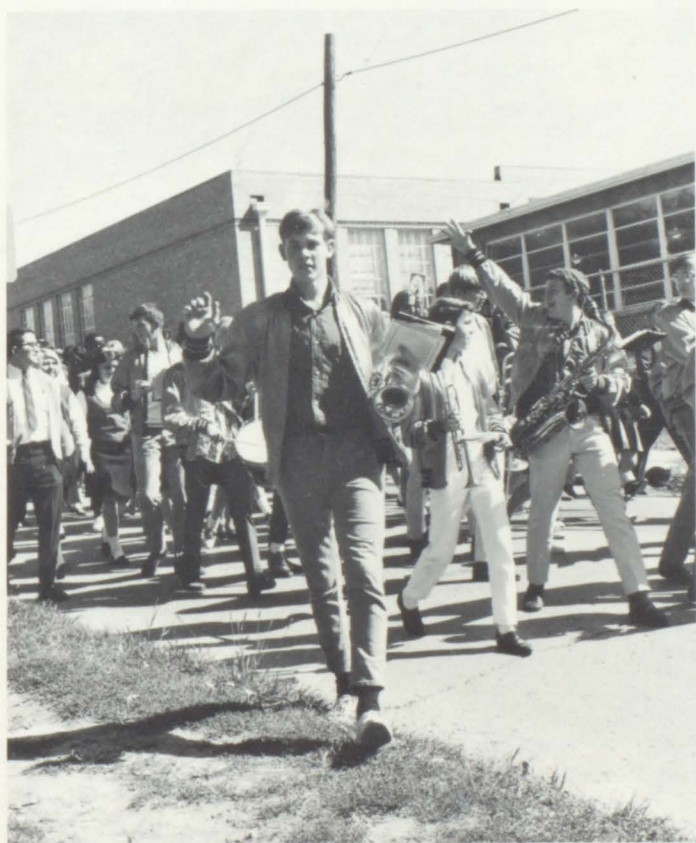

Banner carriers Nancy Jacob, Sharon Wolfe, and Anna Caiharr precede the band in parade formation.

Rehearsing are baton twirlers, Glenda Hunt, Carol Jones, Rita Pierce, Lillian Stinnett, and Anita Gossage.

The marching band is shown as it takes part in one of its many extra-curricular activities.

Flag twirlers, Sherri Rihard, Barbara Pinkepank, and Nancy Falk, are a unique attraction of the marching band.

Pep band members lead the snake dance along the downtown streets.

Pep Club Follows Braves To Victory

This year, pep club has developed many new policies. Girls were not required to attend games, but were expected to do so if their pep club "honor" was to be upheld. New uniforms were introduced to the pep club, consisting of an orange weskit worn with a black A-line skirt.

The pep club again sponsored the Christmas Dance. Their theme was Candyland, which was carried out by large candycanes and lollipops on the walls.

Sponsors of pep club this year were Mrs. Freda Reynolds, head, Mrs. Sydney Dunn, and Miss Cheryl Jones. They have assisted the executive committee in many important decisions.

Leading the pep club this year are officers, Norma Hilliard, vice-president; Carol Brizendine, president; Darla Coon, secretary-treasurer; and Susan Lilley, game chairman.

The pep club encircles the Braves during warm-up, singing "Wave the Flag."

Painting posters after school is a weekly project for Barbara Honeywell, Susie Lilley, and Debbie Wasson, faithful pep club members.

The pep club follows the Braves anxiously in a crucial moment during a basketball game.

Attending wrestling matches and cheering with the cheerleaders as a unit, has been another job of the pep club this year.

Brave's victory song, "The Harlem Goat", creates excitement and confusion among pep club members, coaches, football players, and anyone else who happens to get caught on the field.

B-Club Upholds Honor Of Athletics

The 1966-67 season for B-Club was a busy one. The lettermen paid for a new track record board, sold Bonner Brave sweatshirts, helped sponsor the EKL wrestling tourney and assisted the sponsors with the Class BB district basketball tournament. Once again this year, Mr. Simons and Mr. Cox sponsored B-Club.

A highlight of this year was the annual spring picnic and initiation of the new lettermen. Armed with paddles and rotten eggs, the old lettermen attacked the new members.

Sitting in the locker room before a meeting are B-Club officers, Rick Slickelman, vice-president; Carl Shaad, treasurer; Mike Oliver, sergeant-at-arms; and Mark Meinke, president.

B-Club listens as Mr. Cox, sponsor, pleads, "We have to sell those sweatshirts!"

Kayettes Boast Largest Membership

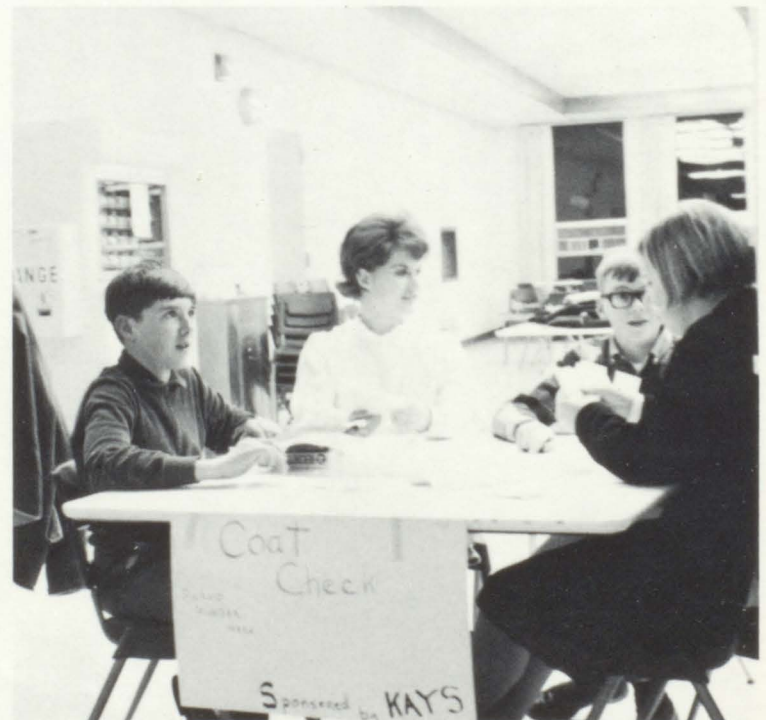

Kayette board members, Jenny Punttenney, president; Mrs. Leiker, sponsor; Sherri Rihard, recreation; Norma Hilliard, regular programs; Cecelia Garrison, world service; Janice Boyer, special programs; Shirley Jones, music director; and Robyn Lillibridge, assistant point director, discuss their project of painting the bleachers at Lions Park.

This year Kayettes had a growth in membership as well as the addition of three new sponsors. In August, they helped with school enrollment, which was a big help to the teachers. After school started, they had a back-to-school dance to get students acquainted with one another after the summer.

The first semester of school they sponsored many drives. They had a pencil drive where each Kayette brought any pencil, used or new to send to children overseas. Profits from the Holly Drive, were donated to the Cerebral Palsy Fund. Kayettes not only served people overseas, but also served the school and community by having a coat check at all the home basketball and wrestling games. They also painted the bleachers at Lions Park, which is used for football games.

Kays and Kayettes share the coat check, a new project. On duty are Mike Kramer, Pat VandenBoom, John Metzler, and Susie Lilley.

Kayette officers and sponsors are looking over the Kayette handbooks. They are Beth Waggoner, vice-president; Nancy Falk, secretary; Miss Jones, sponsor; Linda Pearce, treasurer; Barbara Pinkepank, general executive; and Mrs. Leiker, sponsor.

Janice Boyer, Kayette board member, hands out Kayette handbooks during a regular program.

Kayettes listen to instructions about memorization of the motto and slogan.

Kays Promote Leadership

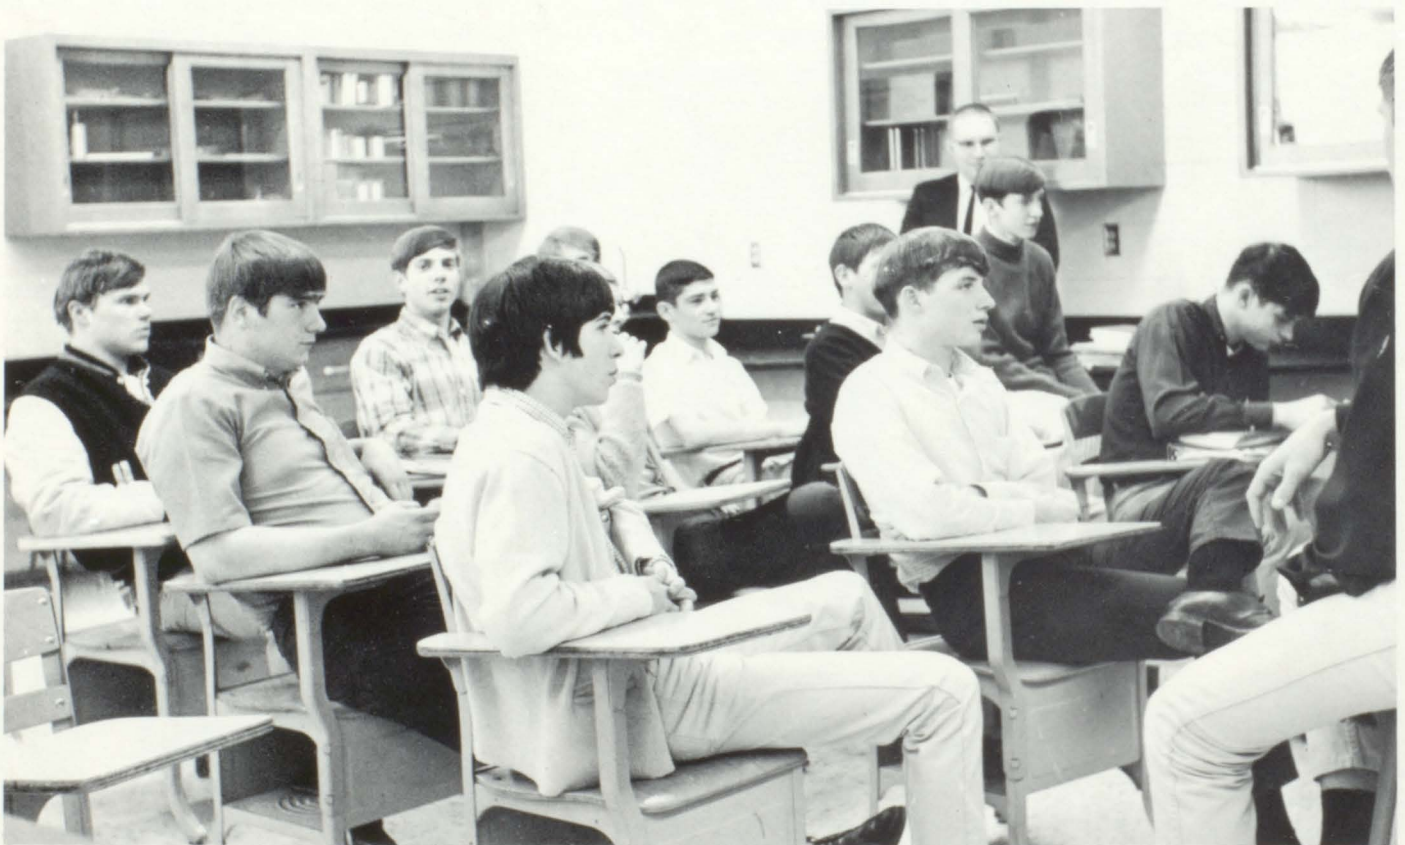

The Kansas Association for Youth, under the leadership of its new sponsors, Roy Rodgers and Leland Finley, participated in various activities throughout the year. Perhaps the most notable of these was the state convention at Lyndon, Kansas. Representatives who attended the convention reported to the club on their educational experiences.

The Kays co-sponsored a coat check with the Kayettes, to help finance painting the bleachers at Lions Park as a community project.

In the Kays' third year at Bonner Springs High School, they have taken advantage of past experiences and planned for coming years to fulfill their motto. . . Today for Tomorrow.

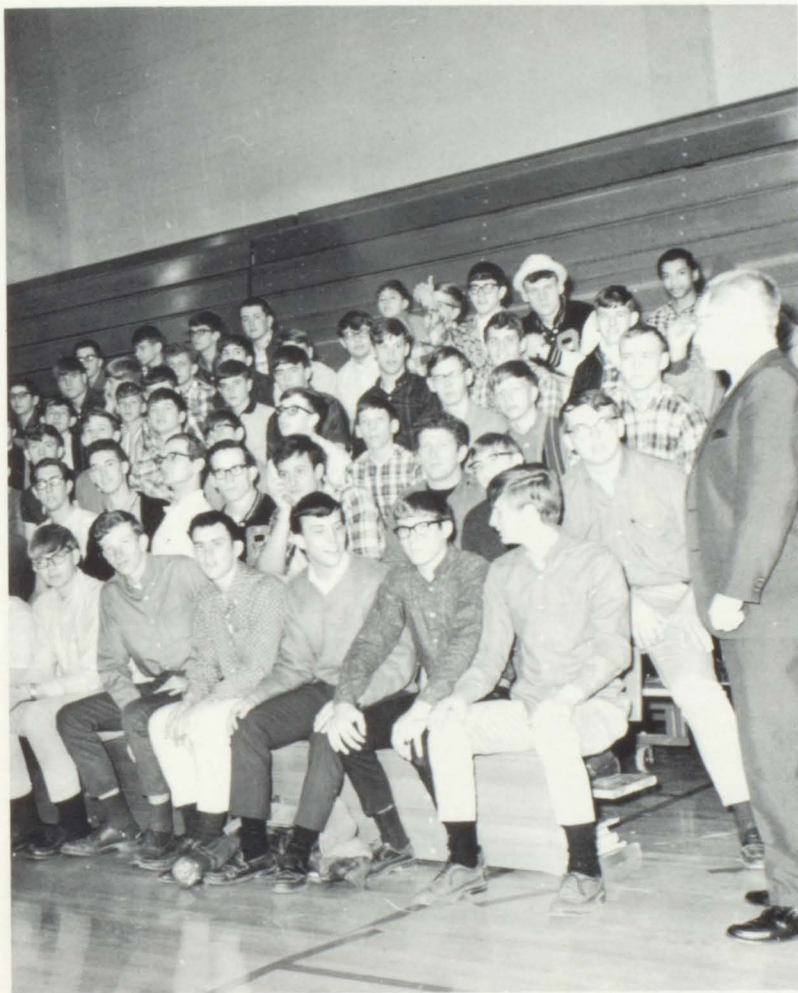

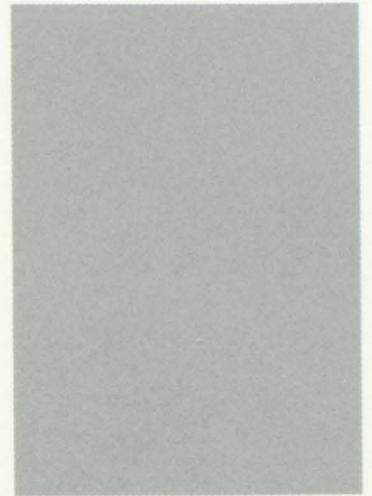

Roy Rodgers and Leland Finley take time out from the pressing responsibilities of Kay sponsorship.

The Kay board meets to form policy and arrange programs for upcoming meetings.

Officers Bill Wright, president; Virgil DeFries, secretary; Jack Mellott, vice-president; and John Miesse, treasurer, take charge of meetings and take care of most of the club's strategy.

J.C.L. Encourages Interest In Classics

J.C.L., a nationwide organization, has always been very active; this year has been no exception. Traditionally, the club began its year by holding its annual slave auction. Clever skits, original plays, and Latin songs made more enjoyable meetings. J.C.L. initiated a new service: student tutoring. This helped many students overcome school and social problems. February 18th the students attended the state J.C.L. convention in Great Bend, Kansas. The convention featured academic and olympic contests, workshops, and guest speakers. The various workshops and guest speakers were very informative and helped the members in their study of Ancient Rome. The national convention will meet this summer in Tucson, Arizona.

"Fifty, who'll give me fifty-five," yells auctioneer, Gary Jennings. Marcia Miller is the slave being sold at the annual slave auction.

Listening to Vanessa Hadley, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting are the officers, Amy Ottinger, historian; Gregg Ottinger, treasurer; Mimi Carbery, program chairman; Dean Falk, vice-president; Wade Brotherson, president; and Mrs. Stith, sponsor.

Mrs. Doris Stith's second year Latin class enjoys studying the classic, "Oedipus Rex."

Robyn Lillibridge brought honor to our school this year, as she was elected state J.C.L. secretary at the state convention in Great Bend.

Genius seniors discover the wonders of fire at the annual J.C.L. slave auction.

Spanish Club Sponsors Knees And Feet Dance

Spanish Club started their activities with a Mr. Knees and Miss Feet dance. Four girls and four boys selected by Spanish Club were contestants in the contest. It was every student's privilege to vote for the knees and feet of their choice. The boy and girl with the most votes became "Mr. Knees and Miss Feet". The purpose of the dance was to raise money to send a student to Spain as a foreign exchange student.

Later in the spring the club went to Kansas University for "Cervante's Day". At "Cervante's Day" a lecture followed the luncheon.

Mr. Nobile, sponsor, checks the bus list before leaving for "Cervantes Day" at Kansas University in Lawrence, Kansas.

Spanish Club officers Debbie Bicknell, secretary; Rex Millsap, activity chairman; Nancy Acock, president; Jim Schmelzle, treasurer; Jerry Mellott, vice-president, stuff the pinata for a party.

Jean Pruitt, Miss Feet, and Bill Hestand, Mr. Knees, reign over the Spanish Club dance.

French Club Holds Successful Carnival

Listening to Miss Mary Trim practice French folk songs are the club officers Jonetta Stransky, Steve Heffley, Bruce Jaynes, Jan Goeking, and Karen Malone.

During a French club meeting, Miss Trim explains assignments for the French Carnival.

French Club membership this year reached a peak. The students, who make up the club, comprise the largest membership in the history of Bonner Springs French Club.

They not only studied French culture, but also took several trips to various high schools and colleges to see French plays.

Their activities ended this year by presenting the annual French Carnival. Many of their meetings were devoted entirely to planning for this annual festival. The carnival itself brought little profit, but the pleasure gained by the students was well worth the effort.

The planning committee for the carnival discuss decorations. Looking at examples are Steve Heffley, Jean Pruitt, and Jan Goeking.

Honor Thespians discuss the dramatic viewpoint of the school musical "Oliver".

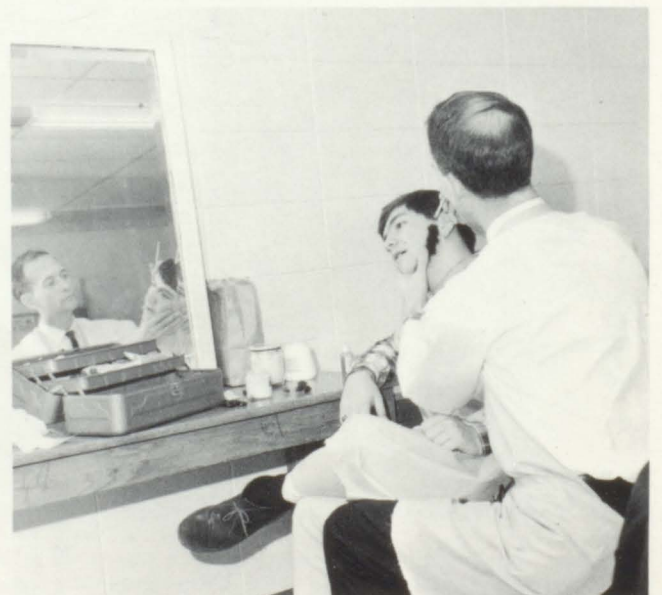

Posing for a "family portrait", are Thespians officers Marshall Leffler, treasurer; B. T. Williams, v. president; Craig Carbery, president; Kathryn Bricker, point director and Ann Morton, secretary.

Mr. Harold Marcum, sponsor, who has an extensive background in drama, is fitting a beard on John Becker.

Thespians Promote Dramatics

Thespians, one of the smallest organizations in the school, has shown that size does not dictate when it comes to getting things done. Besides, putting on the school play, members excelled in various speech contests.

Debators Capture One Trophy

The debate team, although smaller than in previous years, represented our school well. In tournament competition, the debaters won over fifty percent of their rounds. In addition to the hectic pace of tournament debating, the squad demonstrated their skills to area clubs. They deserve praise for the dedication they have shown throughout the year.

Mac Mellott and Marshall Leffler, experienced debaters, organize debate material for their next match.

Marshall comes back with a strong rebuttal.

"We won!"

Brian Boyce and Del Coleman proudly place their trophy that they won at the Augusta Novice Invitational into the trophy case.

John Metzler, Neils Mortenson, Sandy Schoneman, and Nancy Stubblefield, novice debaters, are given advice about debate by Mrs. Elsie Hughes and Robyn Lillibridge, experienced debater.

FHA Teaches Girls Homemaking Skills

Special activities of FHA for this year included a fall picnic for membership, cookie sales during the ten-minute break, a bake sale, a chili supper, and a fashion show and food drive for needy children. They also sponsored an Easter egg hunt for the Kansas State School for the Deaf in Olathe.

Sponsors of FHA were Mrs. Jeannine Stephenson and Mrs. Martha Littooy. The executive board included Betty Hale, Mary Fleming, Gerry Chance, Kathy Maltzbarger, Anna Manzo, Mary Ann Baker, and Ellen Mistler.

The FHA executive board is hard at work planning an Easter egg hunt for the Kansas State School for the Deaf.

Future Business Leaders Seek Job Opportunities

The Future Business Leaders of America have been very successful this year. At the regional FBLA convention in Kansas City, their two spelling teams took first and second place. Beverly Clements was named Miss FBLA and Betty Hale was first runner-up. Cathy Clements took second place in first year typing competition. The club also attended the state FBLA convention in Emporia. FBLA sponsored a school spelling bee as a preliminary to the regional convention. The contest was won by the senior team, and the junior team took second place. FBLA was sponsored by Mrs. Lysle Middaugh and Mr. Gerry Leonard.

Spellers Vicki Pavicich, Hal Callahan, and Cathy Pavicich prepare for state contest as Mrs. Middaugh pronounces the words.

Pow Wow Teaches Journalism Techniques

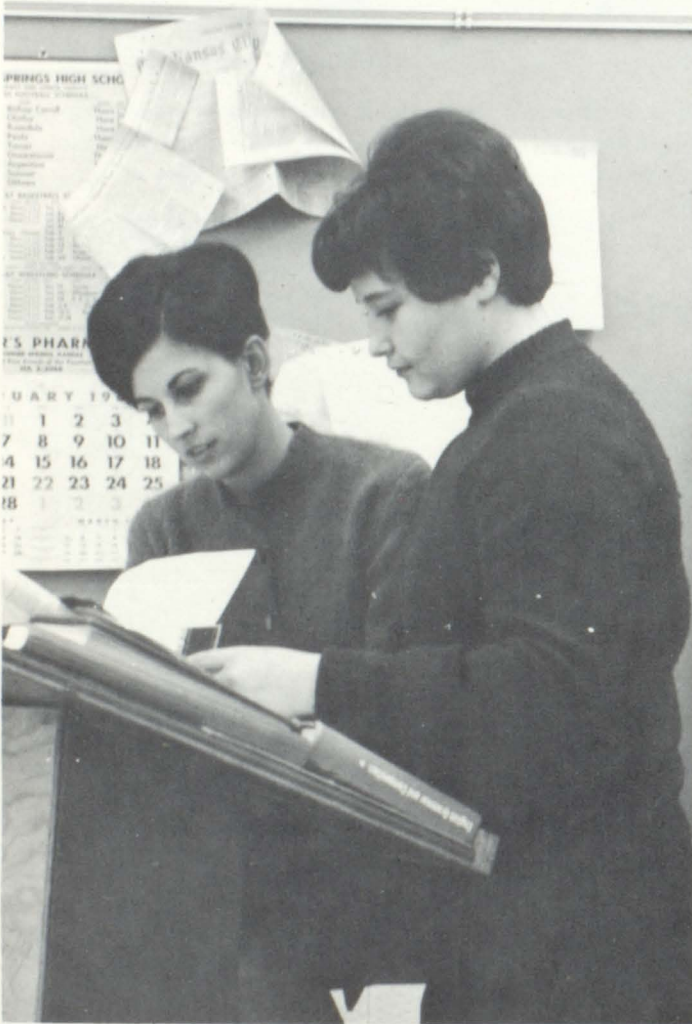

This year's Pow Wow staff has added to the newspaper more pictures and better coverage of school functions to enlighten the student body. The bi-monthly publication stimulated interest in school affairs and teaches the staff techniques of journalism.

One of the most interesting of their field trips was the staff's visit to Governor Docking's press conference. After gaining first hand knowledge of interviewing, they discussed and reported the governor's comments.

Mrs. Carrie Feinstein, new sponsor, re-organized the staff assignments by changing editors at the semester. This enabled more students to experiment with the management of a school publication.

Second semester editors, Charlene Warren, Nancy Falk, Tom Lilley, and Steve May, rush to meet an upcoming deadline.

Sponsor, Mrs. Carrie Feinstein, and editor, Marla Spillman, give the Pow Wow a final check before it goes to the press.

Cleaning the press at the end of a long day are printers, David Langford and Jack Hurt.

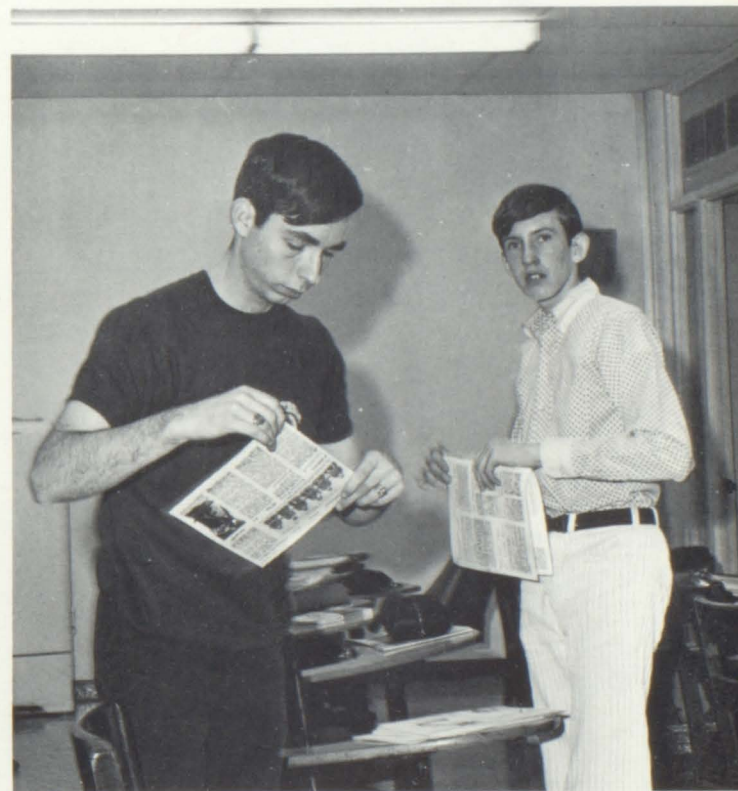

Collaborating on facts for a news story makes for better reporting think Lynn Cooper, Patty Stinnett, and Mary Ann Baker.

Photographer Lloyd Burcham and production manager Richard Sowers offer their vital and special services to the staff.

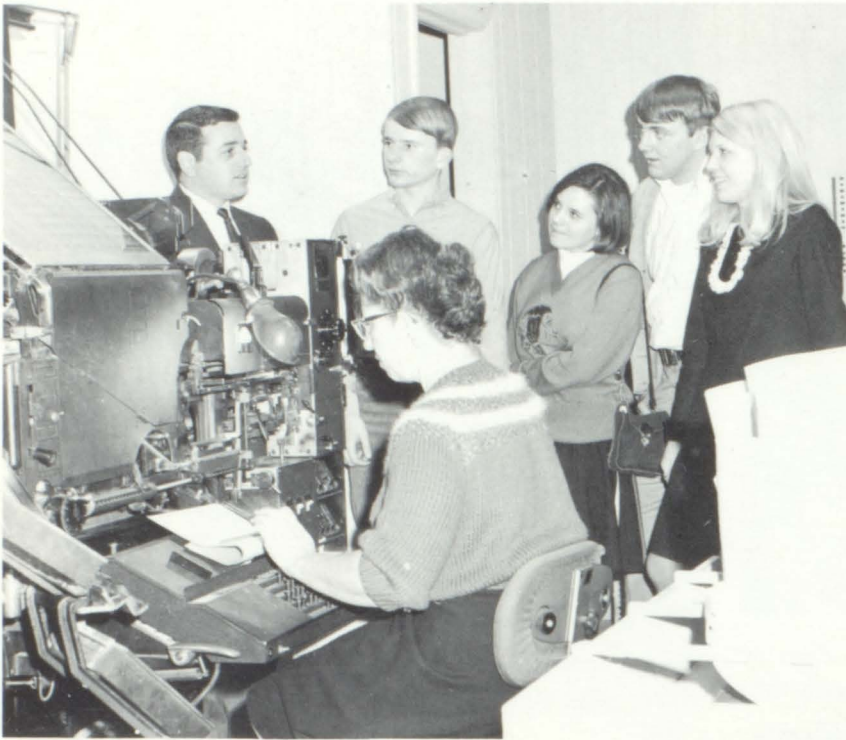

First semester editors Bill Wright, Donna Tallman, Viola Banzet, and Linda Coleman paste-up the eight page Christmas edition of the POW WOW.

New second semester reporters Jim Chance and Gregg Ottinger fold POW WOWS before distribution.

Staff Gives New Look To Old Book

Don Frischer, representative from Artmaster, explains the functions of the company's typesetting machine to staff members Barbara Belobrajdic, C. R. Goodin, Sharon Powell, and Jim Schirmer.

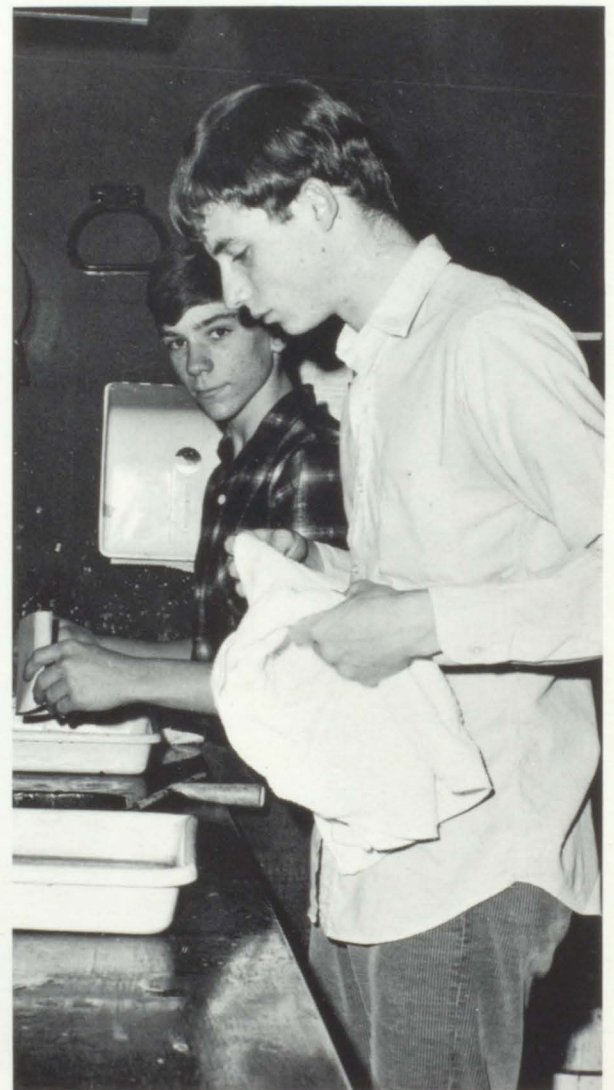

Enjoying the fruits of their labors during a small celebration are B. T. Williams, Mrs. Shea, C. R. Goodin, Kathryn Bricker, Jim Schirmer, and Hal Callahan.

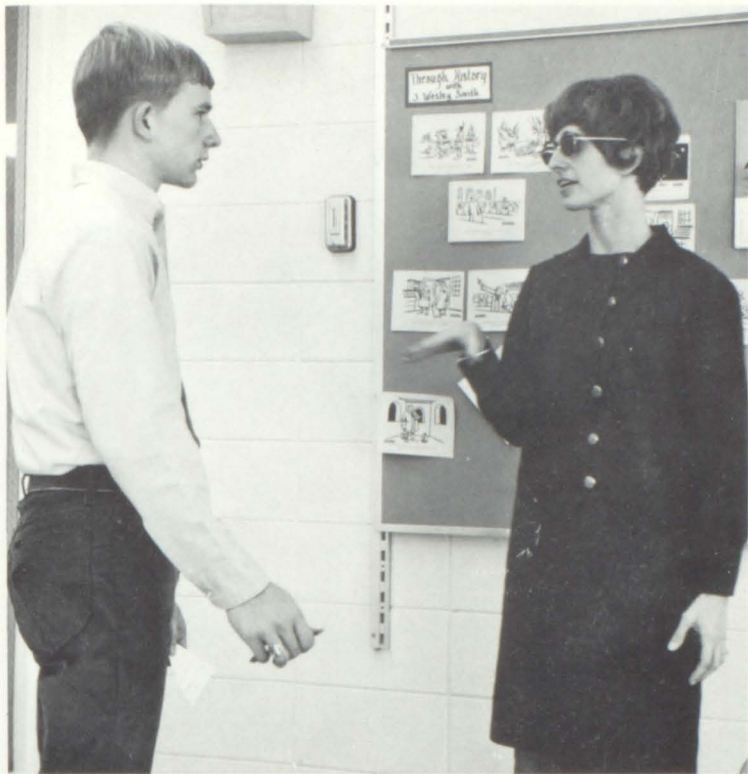

From 16D came the frantic cries. . . "Where are those negatives?" "Redraw my whole layout?" "My headline won't fit!", "Is our deadline really today?" Although times were tough, the thirteen members of the TOTEM POLE staff produced an outstanding book.

Artmaster Yearbook Company, publisher of this year's annual, made things easier for the staff. The convenience of the new plant's location in Olathe made it possible for the staff to see how its book was printed.

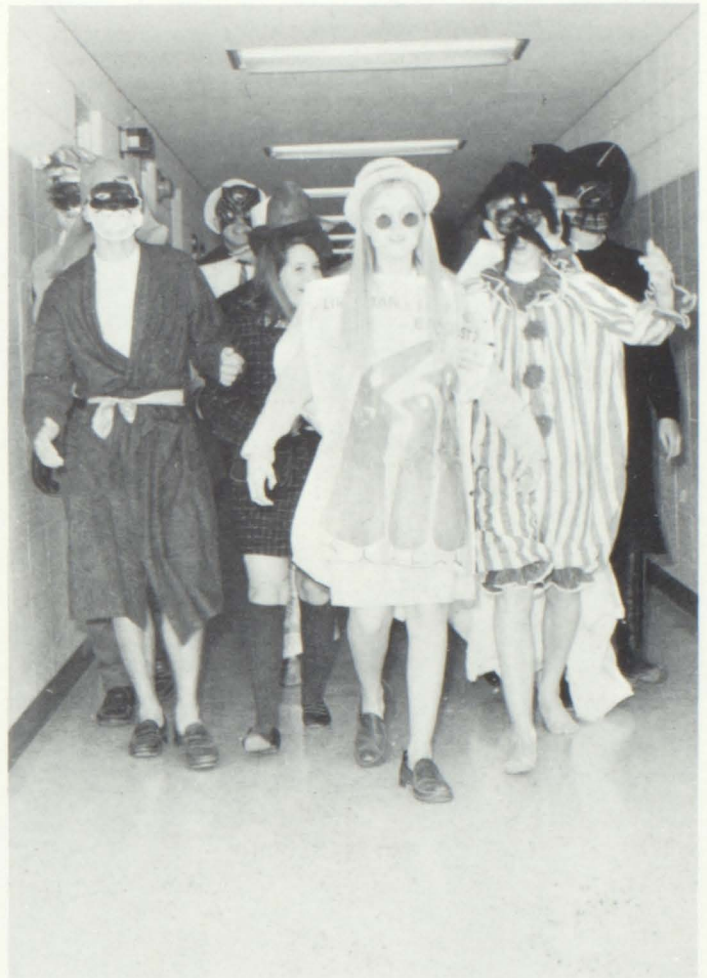

The members of the staff were rewarded for their efforts by a banquet at the end of the year, not to mention the annual signing party in the commons area at which the student body received their books.

Photographers Monty Drennon, and Carl Shaad, work long hours to satisfy the demands of a greedy staff.

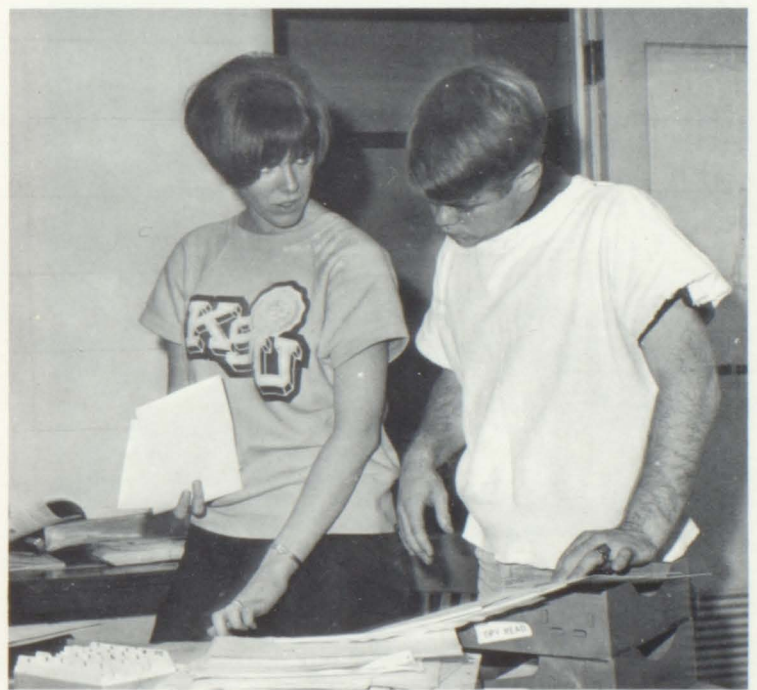

Jim Schirmer, business manager, and Goody Shea, sponsor, discuss the old-fashioned way of financing the book money!

Pacemakers Dash To A Successful Season

Coach Gerry Leonard moved the cross country team from sixth place to second place in the East Kansas League.

The seniors dominated all the scoring this year. The five upperclassmen received medals in either the Bonner Invitational or the E.K.L. meet. Mark Meinke, B. T. Williams, and John Mindedahl proved to be key factors to the team, running for the first year. The team earned a trophy when they won the Bonner Invitational meet. In order to do this they had to defeat eight other teams. Rick Walters and B. T. Williams were low scorers on the team. Mark Meinke, participating in football as well as cross country, set the course record with the two mile time of 10:51.

Some of the highlights of the year were winning the first four meets, capturing first place in the Bonner Invitational with five Brave runners in the top ten, and placing two Pacemakers fourth and fifth in E.K.L.

The "Monster" Ate 'Em Up

The sturdy Bonner defense was mainly anchored by these twelve boys: (front row) K. Scheidt, M. Oliver, L. Cole, H. Parsons, B. Jaynes, and M. Meinke; (back row) K. Miller, L. Meyer, J. Mellott, L. Yazel, T. Anderson, and M. Cop.

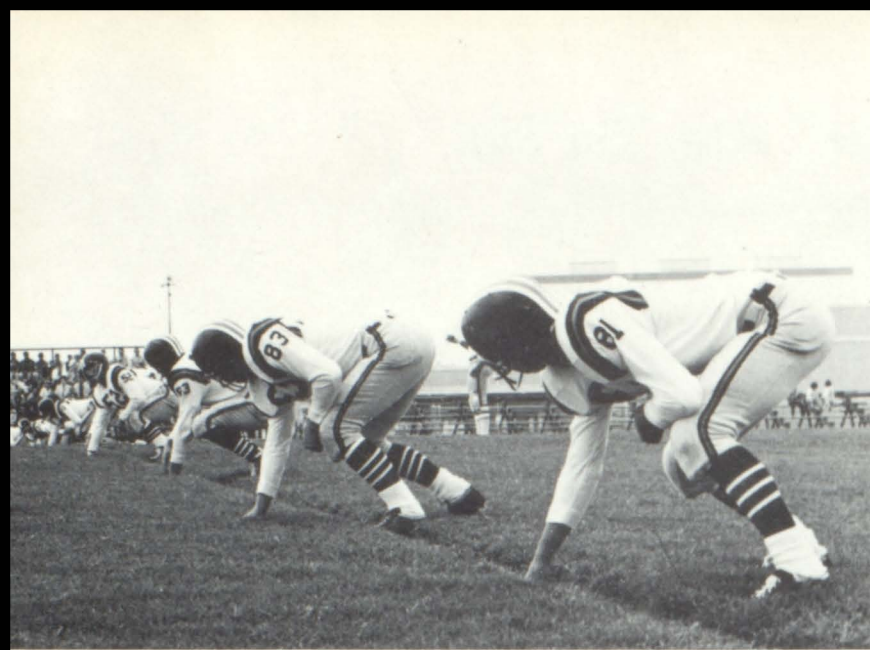

The 1966 Bonner Braves football team won 3rd place in the EKL, with a record of three wins and two defeats. The highlight of the league race was the 12-0 victory over Rosedale's Wildcats. This was the first Bonner victory over Rosedale since 1958.

The Braves over-all record was five wins, three losses, and one tie. This was the best record on the gridiron in recent years. The Braves relied on a tough defense, capable offense, and great hustle to bring them their success.

There were several stand-outs on this year's team. Five boys made the all league team, including co-captains Greg Hammer and Lyle Yazel. Although many lettermen are graduating, the coaches and the returning players look forward to next season.

Coaching this year's team were line coach, Mr. Burns; head coach, Mr. Cox; and backfield coach, Mr. Simons.

The Braves line up and prepare to kick off the 1966 season.

Steve May, senior quarterback, was the Braves' leading scorer this season. He piled up 37 points in two games, before breaking his leg against Rosedale. Steve showed outstanding leadership while guiding the Braves to victories over Bishop Carroll and Olathe.

These boys made up the Braves' bench strength: (front row) L. Tate, G. Green, R. Slickelman, V. DeFries, G. Jennings, P. Anderson, and K. Williams; (middle row) A. Craig, T. Stubbs, D. Gibson, T. Weir, M. Koska, B. Chapman, R. Stewart, T. Sheley, and S. May; (back row) E. Zielinski, J. Hurt, R. Stone, W. Dechman, and J. Grinstead.

Five Selected To E.K.L. All-League Team

These boys were named to the East Kansas League all-star team: Keith Scheidt, senior defensive end; Lawrence Cole, junior defensive guard; Mike Oliver, senior defensive tackle; Lyle Yazel, senior defensive back; and Greg Hammer, senior offensive guard. These five boys were the stalwarts of the Bonner team. They typified the outstanding hustle and desire of the team this year.

Milan Cop trips up a Paola ball-carrier while Tom Anderson charges over to help.

The referees watch closely for penalties, while the Bonner offensive line charges into Bishop Carroll's defense.

Freshmen Show Promising Future

The 1966 Frosh football team ended the season with a record of six wins and three losses. After an opening loss to Ottawa, came six wins. The freshmen lost their last two games by close scores. The frosh had a varied attack, with no single standout on offense or defense. Many of the squad members showed that next year they will be valuable members of the varsity team.

Bonner Is Outstanding On Mat

The 1966-67 Bonner Braves wrestling squad was a highly successful one. By only being defeated once, by a determined Ottawa team 24-22, the matmen finished the season with a record of eight wins and one loss.

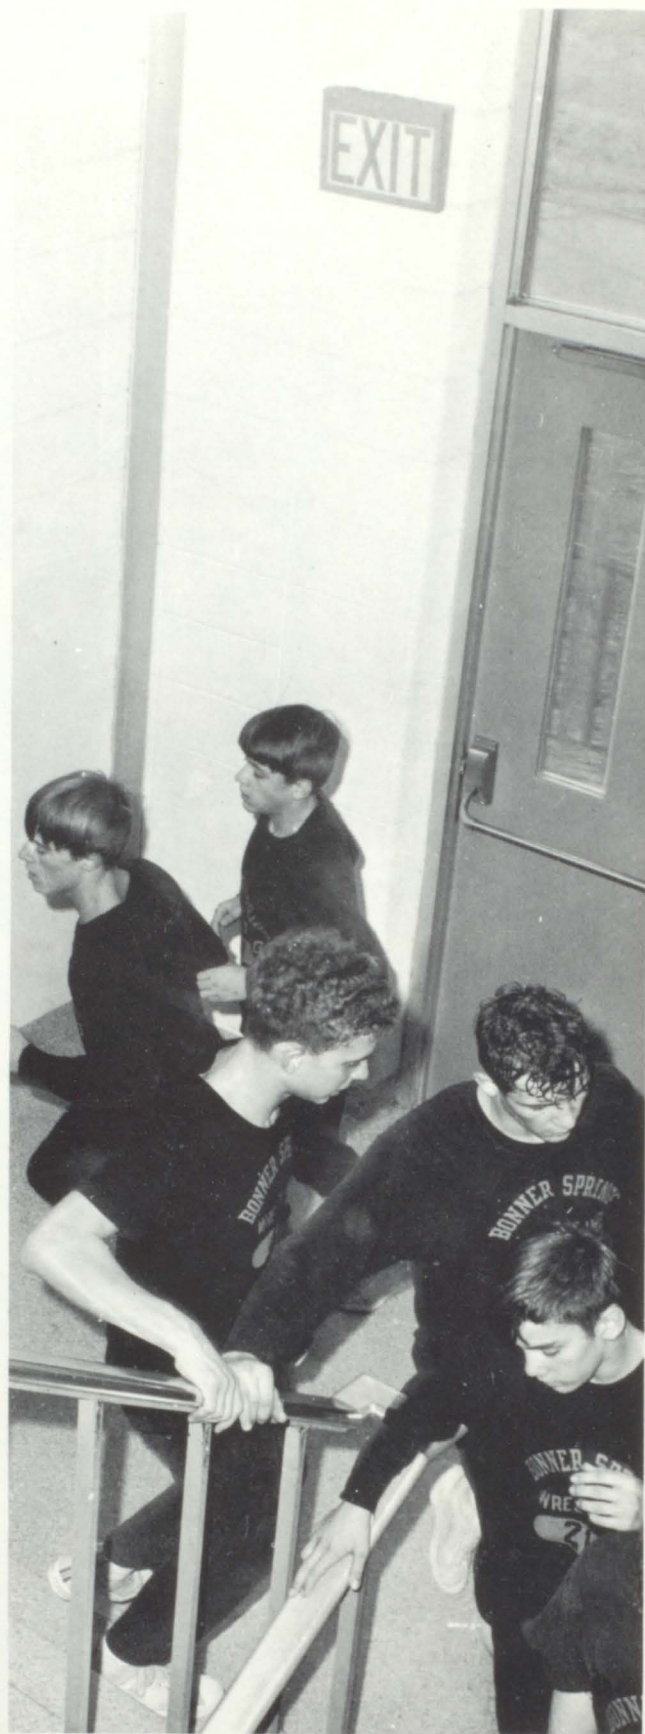

The highpoint of wrestling this year was capturing first place in the E.K.L. Bonner ran up a total of 117 points in crushing arch-rival Turner, and the rest of the league schools. The Braves had seven league champions following this year's tournament.

The grapplers took fourth in the district match at Highland Park High School in Topeka, and qualified six boys for regionals. Three of these boys, Virgil DeFries, David Langford, and Lawrence Cole, went on to finish in the top seven of their weight classes in the state.

Although several of this year's varsity matmen are graduating seniors, Coaches Burns and Ogden, and the rest of the squad, are anxiously waiting for next season.

Mark Meinke, senior, leads the wrestlers in their nightly activity of running the stairs. The grapplers averaged running 30 stairs a practice. Hustling to catch up with Mark are Alec Morton, Steve Elmer, and Frank Caiharr.

Juniors Select Class Ring Styles;

Completely enthralled by the study of the SCARLET LETTER, juniors in English III were the symbols of sin and hypocrisy, as they informally discuss the novel.

The new round style of rings is admired and discussed by juniors Joel Dunn, David Bunker, John Becker, Norma Hilliard, and Lynn Cooper.

... Seek, and Ye Shall Find. . .

All trials man endures, all challenges he faces, all rewards he gains, all honors he achieves, help him attain his life's ambitions. If a man strives for perfection, he will have a continuous goal; but if, too soon satisfied, he will become lazy and indifferent. Indifference hinders society; therefore, man must always search in life to live life. As man grows old, he looks back at his life and reviews his mistakes. From them, a new generation learns and searches for a better life with fewer errors. Only the step below the goal can be reached, never the supreme goal itself. Only "on the thirty-second day of the thirteenth month of the eighth day of the week, on the twenty-fifth hour and the sixty-first minute, will we find ALL things that we seek."

In retrospect, we wish to acknowledge those who helped us attain our goal ——— designing the '67 Totem Pole. A big "thank-you" goes to Mr. Don Frischer, representative from Artmaster Yearbooks, Inc., for his advice and assistance; the businesses and patrons for their financial aid; the school administration for tolerating our picture schedule; Mr. Dennis Berry for designing the cover; Mrs. Jeanie Shea, our yearbook adviser, for standing by us and continually helping us; and last of all, our staff for their efforts.

Students Remember Mr. Leon Shepard

Few men have made as great an impression or gained as much respect as Mr. Leon Shepard did in the short time he was principal of Bonner Springs High School. The spirit he promoted, the enthusiasm he exuded, and the excellence he demanded are the indelible memories students and faculty retain for a fine man.
